Solving Engineering Challenges

We offer complex instrument and consumable development, high throughput lab automation, In-Vitro Diagnostics (IVD) and Point-of-Care systems. Our diagnostics product development process has the rigor required by the FDA.

Controlling Risk

With more than 700 patents during our 30 years of experience, minimizing our clients' risk is in our DNA. Our goal is maintaining complete control of your product design through manufacturing. We understand the importance of delivering on time and within budget.

Making the Right Product

Our human centered approach to user needs and optimization of use workflows create compelling and brand centric solutions.

We stay flexible and accountable to create products that are commercially viable with a human centered approach to user needs.
