Indianapolis, Indiana, the 17th-largest city in the U.S., is a sophisticated blend of charm and culture with a wonderful balance of business and leisure. One of U.S. News & World's Report's 2022-2023 Best Places to Live in the U.S., residents of this dynamic city, and surrounding suburbs, enjoy:

- Leading educational systems and top-ranked universities, paired with a diverse population
- Top-ranked international airport: "Best Airport in North America" 10 consecutive years
- Arts, theaters, world-class museums (including the world's largest children's museum), zoo, concerts and memorials
- Lively nightlife, local wineries and breweries, unique retail experiences and a red-hot culinary scene
- Vibrant downtown with internationally acclaimed eight-mile cultural trail
- Historic neighborhoods, surrounding cultural districts, low cost of living (the fast-growing suburbs of Carmel, Westfield and Fishers are among Money magazine's "Best Places to Live in America")
- World-class sports: home to the Indianapolis Colts (NFL), Indiana Pacers (NBA), Indianapolis Indians (MiLB), Indianapolis 500 and several minor league (hockey, soccer) and college sports teams
- An active lifestyle, including zip-lining, hiking, biking, camping, boating, nature parks and acclaimed golf courses
- Close proximity to Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Milwaukee, Nashville, St. Louis and Grand Rapids, Michigan

Specific to physicians, there are several important factors that highlight the benefits of practicing medicine in Indiana:

- First state to implement malpractice reform over 45 years ago, and maintains its title as one of the friendliest states in the nation for physicians (ranking in the top five)
- Low provider density in relation to population
- Ranked in the top states for strong compensation packages
- Insurance markets are competitive, with relatively high reimbursement rates
- Indiana State Medical Association, which represents more than 60% of the state's physicians, assists its members to be more influential regarding state politics
